San Jose State Football

The current chapter of San Jose State football now is in its third season with Mike MacIntyre as head coach. After meaningful achievements on and off the field in 2011, the Spartans head into 2012 with the mantra of "Match My Intensity."

Coach MacIntyre's program is based on discipline and conditioning and his four building blocks for success.

- Foundation

"It's our job to help these young men gain responsibility and accountability while they're with us."

- Family

"I want us to grow as a team and really care about each other."

- Future

"That's academics. It's a year-round process to be successful. Our players will learn how to succeed at and graduate from San Jose State."

- Football

"If a player has a good foundation, if he loves and cares about his teammates, and if he's doing really well in school,
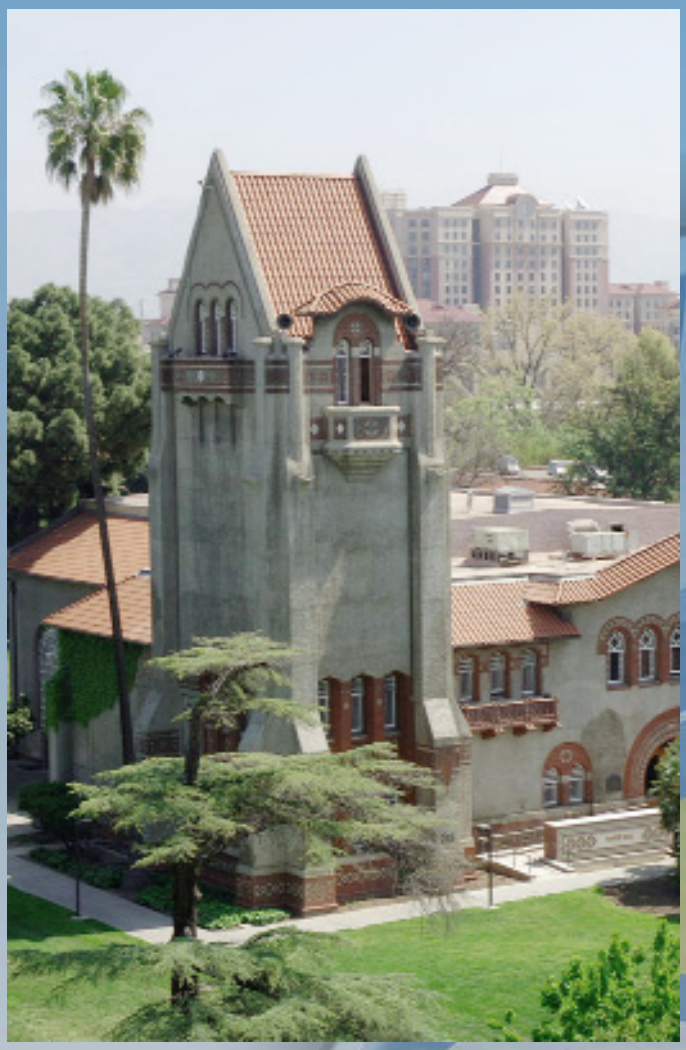
then he will be a focused football player."

San José State University



Founded in 1857, SJSU is the oldest public institution of higher education on the West Coast. Its distinctive character has been forged by its long history, location, and vision - a blend of the old and the new, the traditional and the innovative.

There is an uncompromising commitment to offer access to higher education to all who meet the criteria for admission, yielding a stimulating mix of age groups, cultures, and economic backgrounds for teaching, learning, and research.

Located in the center of San José, the University offers 134 bachelor's and master's degrees and the excitement of a large, metropolitan campus where many cultures meet. Yet, students get personal attention in the setting of the university's seven colleges.

Known for the high quality of its academic programs, its excellent faculty, and its diverse and committed student body, San José State successfully educates students to compete in today's complex, high tech and global economy.

San José State is annually ranked among the top-ten masters-level public universities in the West by U.S. News & World Report's survey of "America's Best Colleges."

San José State is the number-one supplier of education, engineering, computer science and business graduates to Silicon Valley, the world's high tech capital. One of the largest universities in the 23-campus California State University (CSU) system, SJSU attracts students from throughout the United States and 100 countries of the world.

Mountain West in 2013

"By joining the Mountain West, we will face familiar opponents, gain a better geographic fit when we travel, and, perhaps most importantly, the move will provide a level of stability for our football program," says Marie Tuite, then-interim director of athletics.

"This is an extraordinary opportunity for San Jose State University, our students, our athletes, our coaches, our alumni and all of supporters," says San Jose State President Mohammad Qayoumi. "We are not joining the Mountain West simply to compete. We are joining the Mountain West to be champions and build on our current record of success."

"#1 - It gives us stability. #2 - We'll be playing our rivals all the time," says football head coach Mike MacIntyre about the Mountain West invitation. "...There's going to be six bowls associated with the Mountain West if they keep it the way it is now. #3 - We're very excited and we'll be ready in 2013."

Innovation

Student Involvement is the hub of co-curricular life at San Jose State University. Involved students are more satisfied with their college experiences than those who are not. Thousands of students make SJSU more than a commuter school.

At San Jose State, education stretches beyond the classroom. It's the extra-curricular experiences like inter-collegiate athletics that students remember for a lifetime and say best prepared them for their future. Make the most of your time by combining a focus on academics and getting involved in other aspects of college life, too.

Countless opportunities for involvement at SJSU exist. Student government, service and academic clubs, and social friendship groups are just a few of the outlets for involvement.

Before you know it, you will be exploring new areas of interest - once you join one group, you will quickly find out about others. Student Involvement is located on the first floor of Clark Hall on the main campus.

The Koret Center's proximity to Spartan Stadium, grass practice fields, sprint turf, sand pit, and the players' locker and meeting rooms is unique to college football and allows for greater use of time leading to more efficient training sessions. We are very fortunate to have this great facility at San Jose State." – Dave Forman, San Jose State football strength & conditioning coach

2012 Coaching Staff

Mike MacIntyre was named the 29th San Jose State University football coach on December 17, 2009.

MacIntyre embarks on his third season as head coach after accepting a contract extension through 2017. The 2011 Spartans produced the fourth-best positive turnaround in University football history with a 4.5 games improvement. San Jose State exhibited the resiliency and resourcefulness to find a winning way. Four of the team's five wins were in the final minute of the fourth quarter. The opportunistic Spartans, 5-7 in 2011, were the co-national leaders with their 20 fumble recoveries, tied for fourth in turnovers gained with 33, were disciplined as the second least penalized team in the Football Bowl Subdivision and were ranked in the top-25 in passing offense (23rd) for the first time in eight years.

San Jose State's three first-team All-Western Athletic Conference selections were the most in a season since joining the WAC in 1996. Five players were named to national award Watch Lists and quarterback Matt Faulkner was the Most Valuable Player of the 2012 Casino del Sol All-Star Game.

Before his 2010 head-coaching debut, the Spartans' coach instituted the most comprehensive recruiting plan ever at the university and initiated a "summer bridge" program for his first recruiting class to provide his newcomers a smooth transition into life as a college football player. Facing five nationally-ranked teams in the first six weeks of the season, he emphasized and stressed year-round conditioning. The Spartans rebuilt themselves repeatedly, and despite a 1-12 record were positioned late for victory in four of their final five games.

The experiences gained and lessons learned were noticed conference-wide and nationally. Linebacker Keith Smith became the first San Jose State player to be named a WAC Freshman of the Year and a Football Writers Association of America Freshman All-America. Linebacker Vince Buhagiar, wide receiver Noel Grigsby and punter Harrison Waid also received Freshman All-America recognition. No other Football Bowl Subdivision team had more 2010 Freshman All-Americas than San Jose State.

Now in his 22nd season of coaching, the 47-year old MacIntyre came to San Jose State after two seasons as the defensive coordinator at Duke University. Those Blue Devil defenses were among Duke's best statistically over a 20-year span. In 2009, Duke's five wins were the most in a season by the Blue Devils since 1994. The American Football Coaches Association (AFCA) named him its 2009 FBS Assistant Coach of the Year.

Prior to joining the staff at Duke, MacIntyre spent five seasons in the NFL with the New York Jets (2007) and Dallas Cowboys (2003-06) coaching defensive backs. Working for legendary coach Bill Parcells, the Cowboys returned to the playoffs in 2003 and again in 2006 after missing out on post-season competition during the 2000 through 2002 seasons.

MacIntyre has coached on both sides of the ball, spending four years at Ole Miss (1999-2002) where he started as the wide receivers coach for two seasons and the defensive secondary coach in his final two years. The Rebels posted a 29-19 record in

Talk About Mike MacIntyre

"Mike is a high energy guy who is an outstanding coach and a superior recruiter. He is a son of a head coach and has been around football all his life. He will do a great job in bringing good football players, and quality individuals, to San Jose State. I know he will do everything he can to insure that the program reaches the high standards he will set for it."– Bill Parcells, Miami Dolphins Executive Vice-President - Football Operations

"As much as Mike MacIntyre learned from Parcells – everything from talent evaluation to practice organization to player motivation – his heart was in college coaching. It's what he had known, what he had seen, all his life." - Jon Wilner, San Jose Mercury News, September 2, 2010.

"...He has great energy and passion for football and is a true student of the game. His team will be prepared to play on Saturdays. Most importantly, Mike will have a very positive impact on the lives of the young men in the San Jose State program, both on and off the field..." – Duke University Head Coach David Cutcliffe

"I just know that they got themselves a great coach in the sense that he recruited me when I was coming out of high school for Ole Miss and he really sold me on Ole Miss. I couldn't say that I wouldn't have gone to Ole Miss if it hadn't been for him, but he really sold me on it. So, they have a great recruiter and a great guy, an all-around professional. He's coached professional and college, the best of both worlds, so I think they got themselves a great coach." – San Francisco 49ers All-Pro linebacker Patrick Willis that time with bowl appearances in the 1999 and 2002 Independence Bowls and the 2000 Music City Bowl. The 2001 Rebels ranked fifth nationally in pass defense, allowing just 161.3 yards per game.

Along his coaching trail, he has mentored many current NFL players including Cincinnati Bengals safety Roy Williams, a five-time Pro Bowl player. MacIntyre was instrumental in recruiting current San Francisco 49ers All-Pro linebacker Patrick Willis to Mississippi.

His coaching career began as a two-year graduate assistant at the University of Georgia (1990-91). He then worked one year as the defensive coordinator at Davidson (1992), four at Tennessee Martin (1993-96), and two at Temple (1997-98).

A 1989 graduate of Georgia Tech, he played two seasons (1987-88) at free safety and punt returner for head coach Bobby Ross. Prior to becoming a Yellow Jacket, MacIntyre played two seasons (1984-85) at Vanderbilt for his father, George MacIntyre, the head coach of the Commodores from 1979-85.

MacIntyre earned a bachelor's degree in business management at Georgia Tech and a master's degree in education with an emphasis on sports management from Georgia in 1991.

Born on March 14, 1965, in Miami, Fla., he and his wife, Trisha, have three children, Jennifer, a junior at Baylor University, Jay Michael and Jonston.

Kent Baer is in his fifth season on the San Jose State University football staff. After two seasons as the linebackers coach, he added the duties of defensive coordinator in 2010.

In his four seasons with the Spartans, Baer's teachings produced two 2010 freshman All-America linebackers in Keith Smith and Vince Buhagiar and a two-time second-team All-WAC selection in Justin Cole. Smith led all 2010 Football Bowl Subdivision (FBS) players in tackles and was the Western Athletic Conference Freshman of the Year. Cole began 2012 with the St. Louis Rams.

San Jose State is the seventh FBS university in which he is the defensive coordinator. Baer's best units excel at stopping the run. At Notre Dame in 2004, the Fighting Irish yielded just five rushing touchdowns and was third nationally in rushing defense. In 2002, Notre Dame was nationally ranked in scoring defense (9th), pass efficiency defense (10th), rushing defense (10th), and total defense (13th). Baer was recognized for the Irish's rankings that season as a Frank Broyles Award finalist, recognizing the nation's most outstanding assistant coach. Arizona State was seventh nationally in total defense in 1992.

Baer has participated in eight bowl games and the 1986 NCAA Division I-AA playoffs. He was Notre Dame's interim head coach for the 2004 Insight Bowl. Three teams - Notre Dame in 2002 (17th), California in 1991 (8th) and Idaho in 1986 (16th) finished a season ranked in the Top-20 by the Associated Press.

Among a select group of coaches to work at the three Bay Area FBS schools, he was at Stanford for four bowl games including the 2000 Rose Bowl during his seven seasons on the staff. The 2001 Cardinal led the Pac-10 in rushing defense - just the second Stanford unit to top the conference in that category. California won 17 of 23 games in his final two seasons there.

The last 27 years, he has coached and coordinated the New Era Bowl in Japan. The game annually integrates top Japanese college players with selected American players and coaches.

Baer was a standout linebacker at Utah State during the 1969 through 1972 seasons. He set a school record for total tackles, 116, a record that stood for 10 years. Baer graduated from Utah State in 1973 as a physical education and recreation major.

He has three adult sons – Brian, Aaron James (A.J.), and Steven Blake. A.J. is a graduate assistant on the 2012 Spartan staff. Baer also has three grandchildren through his son, Brian, and wife, Kristen - girls, Alex and Isabella, and a boy, Max.

Terry was named head coach in 1985 and led the Broncos to a 47-39-1 win-loss record over eight seasons. Six of his eight teams were nationally-ranked among NCAA Division II schools.

Malley coached 27 all-conference players including long-time National Football League pros Brent Jones, a standout tight end for the San Francisco 49ers, and two-time Pro Bowl punter Bryan Barker. He was the Western Football Conference Coach of the Year in his first season directing Santa Clara to an 8-2-1 record and a conference championship.

His first experience in professional football came in 1994 when he was named the Director of Football Operations for the SaberCats, an Arena Football League expansion franchise. Malley added the duties of General Manager in 1995. In 1999, he returned to the field as the offensive coordinator after a mid-season coaching change and retained his general manager responsibilities through 2006.

Interim Commissioner

After completing its 50th year of intercollegiate competition, the Western Athletic Conference continues to evolve and feature some of the nation's best programs. One thing that remains unchanged is the persistent nature of the schools in the WAC to advance their programs to contend at the top levels of the NCAA.

The WAC provides its student-athletes the chance to travel to scenic destinations and gain exposure in some of the nation's most diverse markets. In addition, the WAC's student-athletes work to achieve the highest levels of success with the academic support of their respective institutions.

The WAC has experienced tremendous success over the years. Since 2000, 43 football teams have been invited to bowl games, including more than half of its teams in 2008 with a record-tying five. The conference has sent teams to BCS bowl games three times since 2006. In men's basketball, the WAC has sent at least two teams to the NCAA Tournament in 24 of the past 29 seasons.

In 2001, the WAC partnered with ESPN for coverage of football and basketball giving the conference national exposure. The WAC also officially added WAC.tv in 2006 to give fans streaming internet access to many of its postseason championships.

The WAC is the sixth oldest among the nation's 11 Division I-A conferences. Its history traces back to July 27, 1962, when the original six-team league of Arizona, Arizona State, Brigham Young, New Mexico, Utah and Wyoming began competition.

The first championship was held in November 1962, when Arizona won the men's cross country title and New Mexico followed with the first WAC football title. Arizona State claimed the league's first NCAA crown when the Sun Devils won the 1966 College World Series trophy. Fresno State was the last WAC school to earn an NCAA team title when it won the College World Series in 2008.

Since 1962, changes have occurred. UTEP and Colorado State became members in September 1967, while Arizona and Arizona State withdrew on June 30, 1978. The WAC then added San Diego State (1978), Hawai'i (1979) and Air Force (1980).

Before 1990, the WAC sponsored championships only in men's sports. However, a merger with the High Country Athletic Conference formed a single conference under one administrative structure, and the 1990-91 athletic year was the first in which both men and women competed under the WAC name.

Fresno State was added in 1992, and then in 1996, the women's programs from Air Force and Hawai'i along with six new schools (UNLV, Rice, San Jose State, SMU, TCU and Tulsa) came into the WAC. Air Force, Brigham Young, Colorado State, UNLV, New Mexico, San Diego State, Utah and Wyoming withdrew on June 30, 1999.

Nevada (2000), Boise State (2001) and Louisiana Tech (2001) were added while TCU withdrew following the 2000-01 season. In 2005, Idaho, New Mexico State and Utah State joined the WAC after Rice, SMU, UTEP and Tulsa withdrew. Boise State withdrew prior to the 2011-12 season. The current membership began on July 1, 2012 when the WAC added Denver, Seattle, UT-Arlington, UTSA and Texas State to replace withdrawing members, Fresno State, Hawai'i and Nevada.

Presently, the WAC crowns team and individual champions in 19 sports – eight men's and 11 women's. For the men, there are championships in baseball, basketball, cross country, football, golf, tennis, indoor track and field and outdoor track and field. Championships for women are held in basketball, cross country, golf, gymnastics, soccer, softball, swimming and diving, tennis, indoor track and field, outdoor track and field and volleyball.

Did You Know?

San Jose State was scheduled to play two games in Hawaii to end the 1941 season. The Spartans were in Honolulu when the attack on Pearl Harbor occurred on December 7, 1941. Many players immediately joined the local police force or the armed services. The games against the University of Hawai'i on December 13 and Willamette College of Oregon on December 16 were cancelled.

Did You Know?

In 1981 and 1987, San Jose State was the "mythical champion" of the San Francisco Bay Area. The Spartans defeated both California and Stanford in those two seasons.

San Jose State University, Silicon Valley's metropolitan university, is pre-eminent in broadly educating leaders and professionals for an increasingly complex and global society.

Located in the heart of the Silicon Valley, this university has aided the development of the computer industry and the resulting technological advances in our nation by providing the largest source of engineering, science and business graduates to Silicon Valley companies.

Graduating about 7,000 students annually, San Jose State University also provides the professional infrastructure for the region – from teachers to social workers to artists to law enforcement officers to nurses. The terms, "leaders and professionals," describe not just the types of graduates who earn their degrees, but also the roles they assume in their communities and in their fields of endeavor.

Tree-lined promenades accentuate the beauty of the San Jose State campus.

San Jose State University's place in history is well-established. Founded in 1857, it was the first public institution of higher education on the West Coast. From its humble beginnings as a normal school to train teachers for the developing frontier, it has matured into a master's university offering 191 bachelor's and master's degrees.

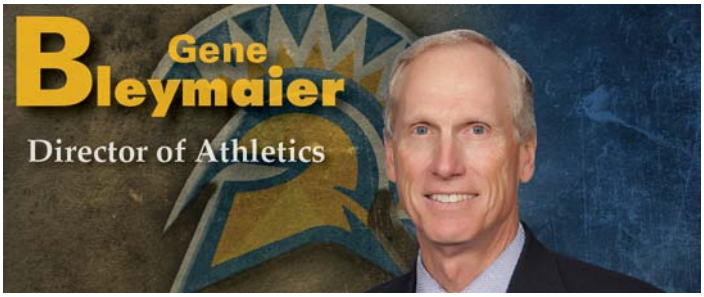
The university's 27,000 students study in eight fully-accredited colleges: Applied Sciences and the Arts, Business, Education, Engineering, Humanities and the Arts, Science, Social Sciences and Social Work.

One strength of the academic program is the broad general education curriculum that brings common elements -- critical thinking, writing and communication skills, and cultural pluralism -- to diverse studies. Academic strength also is seen in the university's nationally-recognized programs. Examples include the School of Music, the School of Art and Design, the School of Journalism and Mass Communications, the School of Nursing and the School of Library and Information Science.

More than 7,000 graduates each year apply their San Jose State degrees to a professional career.

In each discipline, quality teaching remains a priority. Tenured faculty teach introductory as well as advanced courses with an emphasis on small classes. Learning facilities include computer-equipped classrooms, the Western world's only undergraduate nuclear science facility and North America's largest Beethoven Center. Focusing on applied research, faculty receive a growing number of contracts and grants each year. From Moss Landing Marine Research Laboratory to the NASA Ames Research Center, faculty are exploring everything from the depths of the ocean to the surface of Mars.

San Jose State University also finds strength in its diversity. For first-generation students, it is a gateway to economic independence and social mobility. It is also an incubator of cultural and intellectual development and an opportunity for lifelong learning. Students range in age from first-time freshmen to college transfers to professionals seeking additional education. Student demographics – with ethnic pluralism – provide the benefits of multiple cultures and diverse student interests and activities. From residence life to athletic teams to social clubs to co-op jobs – student activities meet the needs of this diverse student body.



Gene Bleymaier was named San Jose State University's director of athletics on May 24, 2012 and began his duties with the Spartans on July 1.

As one of the most-experienced athletics directors among the 124 Football Bowl Subdivision (FBS) schools in Division I, Bleymaier comes to San Jose State with an impressive array of personal and professional accomplishments from 29 years as Boise State University's athletics director.

Gene Bleymaier & SJSU President Mohammad Qayoumi

His foresight and vision led to Boise State changing conferences three times during his tenure. Once a member of the Big Sky Conference, Boise State moved to the Big West Conference in 1996, the Western Athletic Conference (WAC) in 2001 and the Mountain West Conference in 2011.

Bleymaier directed the Broncos to comprehensive success in conference and national competition. Boise State posted thirty-three top-25 finishes in nine different sports. Most notable and easily recognizable is Boise State football's ascension to a national brand. The Broncos are the only football program from 2009 through 2011 to finish in the top-10 each year in the Associated Press and coaches' final polls. Since 2004, Boise State has six top-10 finishes in the Bowl Championship Series standings and was as high as sixth in 2009.

In 10 years of WAC membership, the Broncos were the only three-time winner of the Commissioner's Cup signifying the best overall athletics program in the conference. There were conference championships in football, women's gymnastics, women's swimming and diving, men's basketball, women's basketball, women's soccer, women's tennis and women's cross country – all sports San Jose State offers – and men's tennis and men's indoor and outdoor track and field.

Boise State coaches earned 31 Coach of the Year awards and Bronco student-athletes received conference Athlete of the Year awards 35 times and 68 All-America honors over a 10-year span.

Academically, the NCAA recognized the Boise State football program with a 2010 Public Recognition Award for achieving an Academic Progress Rate (APR) score that ranked in the top-10 percent for all NCAA Division I football-playing schools. Consistently, the Broncos produced the highest APR score among WAC football playing members. The Boise State student-athlete population recently produced a five-semester run of cumulative grade-point averages over 3.00 per semester.

Bleymaier can take credit for conceiving Boise State's unique blue artificial turf for Bronco Stadium. Installed in 1986, it is one of the most distinguishing playing surfaces in the United States and now is imitated in various ways throughout the country. His fundraising prowess and vision led to the creation of enhanced practice and competition facilities for Boise State football, track and field, men's and women's basketball, softball, tennis, and women's gymnastics over a 15-year span. New sports medicine, student-athlete support services and strength and conditioning facilities also were constructed under his watch.

He was the driving force in the creation of the post-season Humanitarian Bowl game. Now known as the Famous Idaho Potato Bowl, the Boise-hosted game now is in its 16th year attracting top college football teams.

During his Boise State tenure, Bleymaier was recognized nationally for exemplary leadership. He received the 2011 Bobby Dodd Athletics Director of the Year and 2008 Astro Turf Athletics Director of the Year Awards. In 2009, he was one of five finalists for the Street and Smith's Sports Business Journal and Sports Business Daily Athletic Director of the Year Award and the only nominee from a non-automatic qualifying Bowl Championships Series (BCS) conference school.

The 1975 UCLA graduate was a three-year letter-winning tight end on the Bruins' 1972 through 1974 football teams. Bleymaier was a third-team All-Pacific 8 Conference selection and was the 1974 recipient of the UCLA Alumni Association's Outstanding Senior Award.

His college coaches were legendary San Jose State alum Dick Vermeil and Pepper Rodgers.

Bleymaier earned a law degree from Loyola Law School in 1978. He served as a UCLA assistant athletics director before joining the Boise State athletics department in 1981 as an assistant athletics director. In 1982, he was promoted to the Broncos' athletics director.

He and his wife, Danell, have four adult children – Maribeth, Joe, Claire and Tom.

More than 3,000 students from 50-plus elementary and middle schools in San Jose were After-School All-Stars beneficiaries.

In 2011, Poch completed course work in the Sports Management Institute – a collaboration of the Universities of Southern California, Texas, Michigan, Notre Dame and North Carolina. The Sports Management Institute provides a specialized executive management program for sports professionals.

The skyline of downtown San Jose

City of San Jose

Situated at the hub of Silicon Valley is San Jose – the third largest city in California and the 10th largest in the nation. San Jose, strategically located at the sunny, southern tip of the San Francisco Bay, is surrounded by rolling hills and striking mountains. San Jose's vibrant and growing downtown is the setting for San Jose State University and the focus for important financial, commercial and arts communities.

Regional growth and stability are complemented by an active cultural life. San Jose is the home of the Silicon Valley High Technology and the Children's Discovery museums, the San Jose Museum of Art, San Jose Symphony, numerous galleries and arts centers, Opera San Jose, the Winchester Mystery House and more professional and community theater groups.

Light rail and historic trolley lines, the 18,000-seat HP Pavilion at San Jose, convention facilities, shops and a diverse night scene add to the excitement. Reflecting the cultural richness is a wide range of restaurants.

The mild climate encourages an active and casual lifestyle. There are more than 100,000 acres of land for biking, rollerblading and other outdoor activities. Boasting nearly 300 days of sunshine and an average summer temperature of 74 degrees, San Jose symbolizes the best California has to offer. The region's 1.6-million residents enjoy recreational and entertainment opportunities year-round. Within a short drive are San Francisco, beaches from Santa Cruz to Carmel, the California coastal redwoods, Lake Tahoe and Yosemite National Park.
